Join this question and answer session to get any and all Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) policy and implementation questions answered by Federal, State and local experts. Panelists will include U.S. Department of Education Title I experts, State Title I experts, and State and local child nutrition and school administrators with experience implementing Community Eligibility.

CEP is a new option to allow high poverty schools to offer breakfast and lunch to all students at no charge while eliminating meal applications. School districts have until August 31 to notify their State agencies that they would like to opt in for the 2014-15 school year.

Please forward this information to your School Food Authorities. Any questions can be submitted at the time of registration.

Co-hosted by: U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, and the Food Research and Action Center.
